OPENING DOORS TO THE FUTURE

ANNUAL REPORT 2018

FRANKLIN COUNTY AREA DEVELOPMENT CORPORATION
As we begin a new year, which will be the 33rd operational year for the FCADC, it’s a time of reflection…to look back on the past and to look to the future. Franklin County has experienced transformative changes over the last 32 years and changes will continue to impact the County…and region…for the foreseeable future. We are in the enviable position, especially within Pennsylvania, to not be faced with the challenge as how to stimulate and create economic development but rather how to manage our growth in such a way as to enhance opportunities and the standard of living for all current and future residents.

As you read through the pages of our Annual Report, you will see that 2018 was another year of significant growth across the County. Virtually every industry sector was impacted ranging from manufacturing and logistics-to-health care, hospitality, and professional services. Labor participation rates increased, however the number of job openings increased by 1.8% and exceeded the availability of workers; wages increased 2.9% year-over-year; and our unemployment rate was 3.7% which was lower than the state average. It was a good year and there is no reason to think 2019 will not be a continuation given that as we begin the year, we have 34 projects in various stages of development.
So, what are our challenges? Among the challenges is our lack of existing industrial buildings which stands to impede expansion and site location opportunities; our inverse labor market in which the number of job openings exceeds the number of unemployed; the need to create a greater number of affordable housing units across the County; the need to respond to the increasing demands placed on our education, health care, and human services providers; and the elephant in the room: I-81. I-81 is vital not only to our local economy and way-of-life, but it is critical to our national economy. It has evolved into a highly congested and dangerous highway and it is the poster project for the need of federal infrastructure legislation. Rest assured, the FCADC will be actively engaged in effectively addressing the challenges.

In closing, it is important to emphasize that the FCADC is a public partnership in every sense as it has been the foundation of our success. We value our relationship(s) and thank all those who have contributed to the FCADC as capital campaign contributors and/or event sponsors. Finally, we chose the cover of our Annual Report to show the Jamison Door Company, who is expanding operations into the Wharf Road Industrial Park, as the project reflects our mission to open doors to the future for all businesses who want to grow in Franklin County.

The site should be your first choice when looking for comprehensive socio-economic, demographic, and quality-of-life information on Franklin County.
